A committee of fifteen was appointed to co-ordinate the campaign.

The resolutions declare that "the

"Upon the farmer," they continue, rests in large measure the final responsibility of winning the war in which we are now involved. The importance to the nation of an adequate food supply, especially for the present year, cannot be overemphasized. The world's food reserve is very low. Therefore, the man who tills the soil and supports the soldier in the field and the family at home is rendering as noble and patriotic a service as is the man who bears the brunt of battle. GENERAL PRICES SURE

FOR HARVEST OF FIELDS "Because of the world shortage of food, it is scarcely possible that the production of staple crops by the farmer of the United States can be too great this year. There is every reason to believe that a generous price will be paid for the harvest of their fields. "To meet the extraordinary needs of agriculture in this emergency, we recommend that an appropriation be made of $25,000,000, or so much thereof as may be needed, to be available immediately for the use of the Secretary of Agriculture in such manner as he may deem best. State governments can, and should, co-operate to the fullest degree."

It is urged that there be created under the Council of National Defense a relatively small central agricultural body to remain in Washington and supervise agricultural matters; a large advisory body, a small central agri-cultural body for each State, and county, urban and other local bodies. Detailed recommendations are made for increasing the acreage in spring wheat in the Northern States, the corn area and the production of oats, sorghum, barley, buckwheat, navy beans, potatoes, sweet potatoes, peanuts and animal products.

"One of the principal limiting elements of food production," it is declared, "is the labor supply on the farm. The plan for public defense should include as definite a provision for enlistment for food supply as for service at the front."
